ILLUSTRATED EDITION OF

An Attic Philosopher in Paris.

OR, A PEEP AT THE WORLD FROM A GARRET. Being the Journal of a Happy Man. By Emile Souvestre. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

Cloth, $1.50.

The great popularity of "An Attic Philosopher in Paris," by Emile Souvestre, has led the publishers to prepare this fine illustrated edition, uniform with the illustrated edition of "Colette." For this volume a large number of full-page and vignette illustrations have been made by the French artist Jean Claude, the illustrator of "Colette." A rich binding has been specially designed, and this volume, considering the fine literary quality of the text and the daintiness of the book's appearance, will, it is believed, prove one of the most popular of the autumn books.

Abraham Lincoln: The True Story of a Great Life.

By WILLIAM H. HERNDON and JESSE W. WEIK. With numerous illustrations. New and revised edition, with an introduction by Horace White. In two volumes, 12mo, cloth, $3.00.

Tamo, cloth, $3.00.

This is probably the most intimate life of Lincoln ever written. The book, by Lincoln's law-partner, William H. Herndon, and his friend Jesse W. Weik, shows us Lincoln the man. It is a true picture of his surroundings and influences and acts. It is not an attempt to construct a political history, with Lincoln often in the background, nor is it an effort to apotheosize the American who stands first in our history next to Washington. The writers knew I incoln intimately, and their biography must take permanent rank as the best and most illuminating study of Lincoln's character and personality. of Lincoln's character and personality.

Warriors of the Crescent.

By the late W. H. DAVENPORT ADAMS, author of "Battle Stories from English History," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This story of Oriental magnificence, of glittering campaigns, fatalistic heroism, and the pillage of the marvellous riches of India by the Sultans of Ghazni and their followers, comes to the reader like new tales of the Arabian Nights. Mr. Adams' graphic, vivid style clothes history with the garb of romance.

Mona Maclean, Medical Student.

By Graham Travers. No. 104, Town and Country Library. 12mo, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

This is a story with a romantic plot and entertaining characters, and not simply a "novel with a purpose." It is believed to be the first novel to treat of the medical education of women from a woman's point of view.

Mrs. Bligh.

A Novel. By Rhoda Broughton, author of "Good-bye, Sweetheart," "Nancy," etc. No. 105, Town and Country Library. 12mo, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

A new and charming story by an always popular nov-NEW ONE-VOLUME EDITION OF Notes and Recollections. Two volumes in one. 12mo, cloth, $2.00.

"GOOD BOOKS FOR YOUNG READERS SERIES."

Along the Florida Reef.

By Charles F. Holder, joint author of "Elements of Zoölogy." With numerous illustrations. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

A story of camping and fishing adventures in company with a naturalist in Florida. The author combines entertainment and instruction, and his book is filled with illustrations which will be prized by every young reader who has ever visited the seashore, or cares for information regarding fishes, shells, and the various forms of

In the Boyhood of Lincoln.

A Story of the Black Hawk War and the Tunker School-master. By Hezekiah Butterworth, author of "The Zigzag Books," "The Log School-House on the Colum-bia," etc. With many illustrations. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Mr. Butterworth describes the boyhood of Abraham Lincoln, and the strange life of the early days in the middle West. No boy or girl who wishes to understand the earlier life of one of the greatest of Americans can ignore this book-a romance founded upon fact.

NOTES IN SEASON.

S. C. GRIGGS & Co. have now in press and will shortly issue a translation by Mrs. Mary Bushnell Coleman of the "Youth of Frederick the Great," by M. Ernest Lavisse, of the Sorbonne, Paris, whose recent election to the Academy created so much interest.

JOHN MURPHY & Co., Baltimore, Md., will publish on December 1 the "Memories of the Professional and Social Life of John C. Owens, the comedian, already described by us. They have in press "Columbus the Catholic," by George Barton, of the Philadelphia North Ameri-

wit, wisdom, poetry," preceded by the famous essay on Heine of Matthew Arnold, edited by Newell Dunbar; "The Real and Ideal in Litera ture," a volume of essays by Frank Preston Stearns, with a portrait of the late Frederick Wadsworth Loring; and "Txleama: a tale of ancient Mexico," a romance of the time of Cortez, by J. A. Knowlton.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just issued their holiday editions of George William Curtis' "Prue and I," illustrated by Albert Sterner; and Henry James' "Daisy Miller" and "An International Episode," with illustrations by Harry McVickar, of which books they have also made limited editions de luxe; "The Praise of Paris," by Theodore Child, profusely illustrated; "A Tour Around New York," being the recreations of Felix Oldboy, a series of sketches written for the daily papers, by John Flavel Mines, and fully illustrated; "Along New England Roads," by W. C. Prime; "An Earthly Paragon," by Eva Wilde McGlasson, and "Macleod of Dare," in the New and Revised edition of Black's novels.

Houghton, Mifflin & Co. have just ready Hawthorne's "Wonder-Book," beautifully illustrated in colors by Walter Crane, and handsomely bound; Dr. Holmes' "Dorothy Q.," together with "A Ballad of the Boston Tea-Party" and "Grandmother's Story of Bunker Hill Battle," illustrated by Howard Pyle and issued in companion form to "The One-Horse Shay," which was their leading holiday book last year; a handsome two-volume edition of Charles Dudley Warner's "In the Levant," fully illustrated with photogravures; "Winterborough," a novel of New England life, by Eliza Orne White; "Cæsar," the third volume in Col. T. A. Dodge's Series of Great Captains; a new revised edition of Professor Norton's translation of "Dante's New Life (Vita Nuova)," and a limited large-paper edition of Professor Norton's scholarly translation of Dante's "Divine Comedy and New Life," issued in four volumes and beautifully printed.

WM. DOXEY, San Francisco, Cal., will publish immediately a volume of literary essays by the late Judge T. H. Rearden, entitled "Petrarch, and other essays." The book will contain a portrait and a sketch of the life of the author, and will be well printed from type, and handsomely bound. A special edition of 150 copies on Van Gelder paper will also be issued. It is proposed during the next year to publish "Lesbian Lyrics: the fragments of Alcœus and Sappho," upon the editing and annotating of which Judge Rearden spent his most serious literary efforts during the best years of his life. Mr. Doxey will also publish at once, in a tasteful holiday form, a poem entitled "The Sleeping Princess California," by Alice Edwards Pratt. The book will contain sixteen half-tone illustrations of California scenery and flowers; a new edition of W. E. Brown's "Jack and Jill," which will contain six additional full-page illustrations and an introductory essay by Joaquin Miller; the fifth thousand of "Borrowings," a dainty little volume of selections from great writers, compiled by the ladies of the First Unitarian Church, Oakland, in a new and tasteful binding; and "At the Gates of Light," and other poems, by Mrs. E. Amie S. Page: which will be ready in time for the holidays.

A story of English country home life. Miss Phillis Penelope Pringle is a quaint, noble little old maid, with an eccentric pride in her alliterative uame, which she regards as symbolizing the "precious pearls" of "prudence, patience and piety." She plays an important part in the lives of her young relatives, and her despised "pearls" prove of value to their possessors. The dénoument is unexpected and reveals little Miss Pringle in an entirely new light.

Elise Hénin, a native of a little French fishing hamiet on the English Channel, is the fisher-girl. She is nineteen when the story opens, and with her twelve-year-old brother ships on board the sloop Bon-Pêcheur for the herring fishery. Strong as a boy, an expert sailor, tender-hearted and forgiving, she has many rough experiences. She is parted from her brother, the cruise is unsuccessful, and the rude villagers think Elise the cause. Her dog Barbet is her only friend, until at last the clouds lighten and Elise gains the happiness she has so bravely earned.

M. Clarétie states that this story of hypnotic suggestion is the result of experiments and observations made by him within and without the prison of the Salpétrière, Paris. It deals with his belief that crime may be committed by one who is the unconscious instrument of another's will, and shows how, by a counter-hypnotic influence, the subject may be forced to reveal the details of the primitive suggestion. Dodge, Theodore Ayrault. Cæsar: a history of the art of war among the Romans down to the end of the Roman empire, with a detailed account of the campaigns of Caius Julius Cæsar; with 258 charts, maps, plans of battles and tactical manœuvres, cuts of armor, weapons and engines. Bost.. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1892. c. 16+789+3 p. por. il. O. (Great captains ser., no. 3.) cl., $5.

The basis of this book is, "Cæsar's Commentaries," the special flavor of which Colonel Dodge has retained by adhering closely to its narrative, and by frequent extracts. Maps of the theatre of Cæsar's campaigns and charts of his battlefields enable the reader to understand his movements and battles as readily as those of our Civil War. Colonel Dodge has visited all of Cæsar's battlefields, and made topographical sketches; he has followed the course of the Roman legious through Spain, France, Italy, Egypt, Northern Africa, Syria, and Greece. His criticisms are based on intimate acquaintance with the scenes, and on study of the ancient authorities and modern historians.

The scene is an old London precinct in the Strand. Essie Britton is suddenly separated from her childish companions, forced to leave her home and live at Hillstone farm. After a lapse of years death causes another reverse, and she returns to her former London home. The story tells how the changes of people and surroundings affected Essie, of the return of her father, and how this latter incident led Osbert Revell to express sentiments which resulted in a broken engagement and the renewal of an early romance. ment and the renewal of an early romance.

The title probably designates the hero, who has rather wasted his life in literary dreams and unprofitable retrospections. In London he meets a woman whom he knew as a girl fifteen years before. The story tells what happened in Baden-Baden at that time, and how the mother of his old acquaintance influenced his and her own life for good and ill. Influence having secured for Gil Vincent, a commission in the East India service, he is ordered to join his regiment in India. Besides the daring exploit with which Gil began his voyage, much incidental matter is introduced with a description of the English barracks and a revolt of a native regiment. In this latter Gil distinguishes himself by concocting a plan to recapture the lost guns of the English regiment. On his mode of carrying out his scheme the interest of a story of adventure depends.

Sicily has never been a nation with a language and a history of its own. It has belonged in succession to many nations, and has been the battlefield of almost all the nations around the Mediterranean Sea—hence its history is one of the longest and most unbroken histories in Europe. This volume is one of the last works Mr. Freeman was engaged upon before his death, and it was his first intention to write two volumes, the first ending where this does with the end of the Roman first ending where this does, with the end of the Roman dominion, the second to begin with the coming of the Saracens, and to end with the merging of Sicily into the new Italian Kingdom. He becomes Bistrom's pupil, however, works ardently at bench and tools, and develops much artistic skill. A warm friendship springs up between teacher and pupil, and Bistrom tells in detail the events of Axel's life, of his school-days at Upsala, his sudden loss of fortune, of the part manual training played in his long struggle with poverty, and how by it he gave health to his father and saved his family from want. McGlasson, Eva Wilder. An earthly paragon: a novel; il. by Frank V. Du Mond. N. Y., Harper, 1892. c. 3+207 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Upon the death of her father Sylvia Bylands accompanies her elder brother, a warm-hearted, rough Kentuckian, to his home in the wild west. She is "the earthly paragon" beloved at first sight by all that see her. Howshe uses this great gift and what she makes of her life and of the lives of others furnishes the plot of a story full of good character studies and descriptions of rural life and its amusements.

A collection of the bric-a-brac of literature, literary A collection of the bric-a-brac of literature, literary forgeries, hoaxes, jests, enigmas, conundrums, paradoxes, etc., exploited; proverbs, sayings, slang phrases, and familiar lines correlated and traced to their source; plagiarisms, analogies, and coincidences detected; the whole forming a complete encyclopedia of all that is most amusing and entertaining in the ana of the past and present, and an indispensable reference-book of curious, quaint, and out-of-the-way information that has never before been collected in book form.

Ware, W: Zenobia, Queen of Palmyra: a tale of the Roman empire in the days of the Emperor Aurelian. Bost., Estes & Lauriat, [1892.] 8+432 p. il. O. cl., $2.50.

A new edition of this standard work set from new and large type and fully illustrated with half-tone plates from photographs taken in Palmyra, showing the rulns of that splendid civilization, which was at its zenith nearly two thousand years ago.

Wedding bells: a marriage record book containing ruled space for each month in which to insert the names and dates of marriages of friends and acquaintances, and a mariage certificate. N. Y., Baker & Taylor Co., [1892.] unp. il. sq. S. leatherette, $1.

West, Andrew Fleming. Alcuin and the rise of the Christian schools. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1892. c. 5+205 p. D. (The great education ser.) cl., net, $1.

Alcuin, a distinguished English prelate, was born 735 and died in 804. He was for many years the favorite and confidant of Charlemagne, and it is said that it was through his influence that this great king was induced to found free schools and work for the advancement of learning in his day. The history of the beginning of these schools is given chiefly in the words of Alcuin. The author is professor in Princeton College.

White, Rev. Lorenzo. The democracy of Christianity; or, equality in the dealings of God with men. N. Y., Hunt & Eaton, 1892. c. 307 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The author says "the right of this book to be rests on its bringing into clear ary view translated."

upon its bringing into clearer view two closely related truths hitherto but dimly seen-the absolute freedom man upon probational issues to choose for himse and form his own character, and to all who are held to the responsibilities of probation perfect equality of opportunity for securing the favor of God and eternal life."

Wilcox, Mrs. Ella Wheeler. The beautiful Land of Nod. Chic., Morrill, Higgins & Co., 1892. c. 3-81 p. il. O. cl., $1.50. Little stories in prose and verse for the smallest children.

White, Eliza Orne. Winterborough. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1892. c. 3+350 p.

S. cl., $1.25. By the author of "Miss Brooks." Winterborough is a New Hampshire town sadly given over to gossip. The hero is a school-master, the heroine a school-girl, both of strong character and resolute will, who take opposite views on most questions. Other persons, typical of New England towns, figure in the story. The conversations are very bright, replete with the satire and cleverness that made the writer's first novel so popular.

Wolf, Annie. The truth about beauty. N. Y., Lovell, Coryell & Co., [1892.] c. 5+212 p.

il. por. D. cl., $1.25.

II. por. J. cl., $1.20.

The author treats beauty from a spiritual rather than from a physical standpoint, believing that "the highest beauty is beauty of soul." She discountenances the use of cosmetics, and bases physical beauty on health, exercise, hygienic living and fresh air. If to these be added a happy temper, loving nature and an earnest desire to become attractive, any woman can be agreed multa hesself hautiful. she argues, make herself beautiful.

Wordsworth, W: Poems; chosen and ed. by Matthew Arnold; il. by Edmund H. Gar-rett. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., [1892.] c. 34+319 p. il. D. cl., $2.50; full leath., $3.50. The selection made by the late Matthew Arnold, containing the cream of Wordsworth's verse; the illustrations in photogravure after designs by Garrett beautifully interpret the text.

Wynman, Margaret, (pseud.) My flirtations; il. by J. Bernard Partridge. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1893 [1892.] 6-185 p. D. $1.25.

It is the charming daughter of a famous Royal Academician who relates the history of her flirtations. There are thirteen recorded, but the first, "the prime-val one, is lost in the mists of antiquity." They are all short-lived and never tragic, and form a series of amusing sketches of London society. One of the "flirtations" culminates in a wedding, but whether it is the messimist, the liquetnant, the undergraduate, the ecopessimist, the lieutenant, the undergraduate, the economical admirer, the "society" youth, the country doctor, the poet, the diplomatist, the stockbroker, the American, the Frenchman, the actor or the solid business man who carries off the prize, the reader must discover.

Wyss, J. Rod., and Montolieu, J. I. P. de B., Baronne de. The Swiss family Robinson; a w: H. G. Kingston. N. Y., G: Routledge & Sons, [1892] 9+564 p. il. O. (Routledge's colored classics.) cl., $1.50.

Zander, W: Modern decorative painting: colored designs in different styles for decorating ceilings and walls of sitting-rooms, parlors, dining-rooms, halls, boudoirs, smoking rooms, staircases, vestibules, churches, etc. N. Y., Hessling & Spielmeyer, [1892.] 30 pl. F. bds , $20.

A portfolio containing thirty beautiful designs in colors for the uses stated in title.

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

U. HOEPLI, MILAN, has recently published Signor Fumagelli's new "Bibliographia Etio-pica." It is an octavo and carefully enumerates all known works relating to the Massaua Colony (with Abyssinia and Somali Land, etc.) from the fifteenth century to the present time. The list includes the writings of Italian, French, English, German and other authors. The active interest shown by Italians in their new colony may be judged from the fact that of about 1300 works published in the peninsula, three-fourths of them have made their appearance in the five years ending with 1890. The catalogue is divided into Travel in Ethiopia, Travels generally in the District, Geographical and Statistical Accounts, Minor and Particular Expeditions, Mappography, Language, Literature, History and Archæology, etc., etc. The completeness of this bibliographic catalogue, brought down to 1890, makes it a publication of world-wide importance, considering the general attention which is now being concentrated on the dark continent,

AN ENGLISH BOOKSELLER'S VIEW OF THE DISCOUNT QUESTION.

THOMAS FARGIE, a well-known bookseller of Manchester, England, recently wrote to the London Publishers' Circular a letter on the vexed question of discounts, which may also prove interesting and useful reading for American booksellers. In reprinting his communication, it is to be understood that we do not necessarily endorse his statements or concur in his conclusions. Our object is to present as many opinions on this vital question as possible, in order that from them all some day one decisive one may be formed that will help the bookseller to solve this problem. Undoubtedly the first thing necessary is that each individual educate himself and strengthen his backbone. Then, and then only will general co-operation become feasible and helpful.

"I am convinced," writes Mr. Fargie, "there is no cure by combination; the cure lies in each man keeping the price up to what he considers a paying point. Surely no ordinary small bookseller says an allowance to the public of 3d. in the shilling is a paying point. It's all very fine to say it's impossible a man can make his place pay if he allows only 2d. in the shilling. It is not impossible. One veritable example is worth a thousand speculations. I have conducted my business for nearly nine years, allowing 2d. in the shilling, and my yearly turn-over during that time has only varied more or less by a matter of a hundred pounds or so. Let each individual bookseller be strong-backed enough to quote as the price of a book the net one, after he has deducted 2d. in the shilling, or 1d. in the shilling, or nothing in the shilling, if he cannot give discount; and when asked what it is published at, give the answer I usually return, 'The net price is so and so, I have taken off the discount,' and ten to one there is no more bother about the published price. If there is, let him stand up manfully and not be intimidated by seeing a customer march out of the shop because he thinks he can buy cheaper elsewhere. It is this 'because some one else will' that's at the bottom of all the mischief. What have I to do with what any one else does? I know if I expect an exorbitant profit I shall soon have to give up, but if I expect only a moderate profit of 13d. in the shilling on new books, I am not to be driven from my position because a near neighbor undersells me, and is content (?) with ½d. in the shilling.
"It appears to my feeble intellect a ridiculous thing to talk about the impossibility of going back to 2d. in the shilling. Why, the successful efforts made in a small way by both Messrs. Macmillan and Messrs. Longmans of publishing at a net price some of their books proves this to be mere idle talk. A bookseller can go back to any discount he pleases, and will get his price if in reason. No one blames the public; it is quite right to get things as cheaply as it can. In a general way the men who are at fault are those who are frightened into giving their legitimate profit away because some one else elects to keep a few books and sell them at cost price, or under if it suits his purpose. I know of a case where the 3d. in the shilling was introduced into a large centre by a dealer who sold ready-made clothes, boots, trunks and drapery of all sorts, electing to keep a few books, and ticketed them with 3d. in the shilling discount. One of the principal booksellers in the place began to do so too, and was waited upon by a neighboring bookseller about it, and he was politely shown to the door, being as good as told to mind his own business.

"The net system is good, and I hope it may be extended as much as possible. It affords me great amusement to read reports of the dinner of the London Booksellers' Union. The members felicitate each other on the wonderful success of their movement in succeeding in drawing the discount line at 2d. in the 1s. Yea, verily! it is a wonderful result. There is no remedy but in each man doing what he deems right and just. My sole aim in writing is to give expression to what must be the thoughts of many in the trade besides myself, and to give them a word of heartening that there is at least one bookseller in a large centre who will not give in to the selling of books with a greater discount than 2d. in the 1s., because to give more leaves him, and every bookseller, with an inadequate profit. I may tell them, in addition, I am not making a large income, but if this is the case with allowing 2d. in the shilling discount, what would it be if I allowed 3d.? I am sometimes told: 'You have a special trade.' * I have dealings with the same publishers whom most booksellers trade with; therefore there is not much in that. I always understood parsons wished to buy in the cheapest market. I should like to know why they come to purchase at my shop at all? Simply because they have no desire but to be fair in their dealings, and they believe I will be just also. They are not all alike, some of them are perhaps unconsciously sweaters. To sum up, the small bookseller's day of extinction draws nearer and nearer. Nothing but huge concerns where the public will be badly served will exist. I have no son to succeed me; let me hope the small bookseller, who gives one branch of the trade his special attention, may be able to hold on till my little play is played out. I recall with a feeling of amusement the days when even

2d. in the shilling was unusual. My apprentice master, Robert Grant, of Princes Street, Edinburgh, on one occasion took a lady by the hand to the door of the shop, which stood not far from the Scott Monument. She had asked for 2d. in the shilling. In a courtly way (for he had a fine finish about him) he led her as I say to the door, then, pointing to a steep close with stairs which ran up from near the Waverley Station to the High Street by the side of Messrs. W. & R. Chambers, he said: 'If you climb up yonder, then cross the High Street, go down another steep close on the other side, then up another one till you come to College Street, there is a man there who will give you 3d. in the shilling. Good morning, ma'am!' This old gentleman, Robert Grant, died a few years ago without one single trade journal noticing his death, though in most respects he was far and away above the average of his class."

BOOKBUYERS.

EVERY bookseller, writes a correspondent to the Book Lover, must have noticed the different methods which customers employ who purchase books.

There is the customer who drops casually in in a disinterested sort of way and glances generally about the shelves and concludes by asking for a catalogue, which, by the careless way he thrusts it in his pocket, shows that he will probably never read it, or if he does, will not appreciate the desirability of the books offered. This kind of client generally buys showy sets and table books at the more prominent shops. He is the collector that sees.

Next is the customer who comes in and asks to "look around." He has learned a little something of book lore and hopes to catch a bargain. If the dealer tries to engage him in conversation, in order to discover his taste and to offer books of a kind to gratify it, he is likely to be politely rebuffed in a manner which shows that the collector is afraid to be sold something he doesn't want. This kind of collector must be adroitly dealt with, for he is generally inoculated with the idea that he knows it all. He is the collector that looks.

Look at the man who enters a bookstore in an assured manner and proceeds with confidence to inspect the shelves. Note how his eye scans the top shelves and runs down to the larger volumes below. He rapidly perceives the arrangement and classification of a stock and skips whole sections of books which he knows are "out of his line." He will slowly encompass the whole shop, and if then he does not find books to please him will approach the dealer and make intelligent inquiry. Then very likely there will ensue a chatty conversation which will prove of benefit to both. There will be an interchange of ideas and a kindling of enthusiasm if the dealer has books on which he can expatiate. will almost surely be a barter and sale, and when after a half hour or so the customer departs he goes away pleased, the richer in books and the knowledge of them, and resolving to come The dealer is gratified, less at the pecuniary part of the transaction than by the pleasure of having made almost a friend by the magic freemasonry of book love. We have described the customer who observes.

The door opens quietly and there enters a man of secretive aspect. Upon being asked his requirements he replies: "Nothing, oh, nothing; just to look around." He takes a comprehensive glance over the shop, and, disdaining the sets of books and those of fine appearance, gravitates surely to the sections and corners where stand the musty-fusty volumes huddled together. Now observe him carefully and note how he takes up vo'ume after volume, inspects it critically, and turns promptly to see the price upon the fly-leaf. If the price is too high in his estimation he puts it back with a sigh; if moderate his hesitation is evident, and he will probably put the volume on one side and for consideration a little later; if cheap, note how he brightens up and promptly claps the volume under his arm. If he gathers several cheap books he is apt to disregard all those he hesitated over, and with his selection he will go to the dealer and ask him what he will take for the lot. As the dealer glances over them he knows he has marked them too low, if anything, and yet he knows he must do better on the lot or lose a customer who always pays cash. So he makes a virtue out of a necessity, gives a slight deduction, surrenders the books and with a rueful countenance watches his customer depart, for he suspects he has been "bested." We have attempted to describe the book-hunter.

There are very few of his class in this country, for as a general thing Americans are too much occupied in carrying on their own lines of business to acquire any knowledge of books. Our leisure class, the favored few, are almost entirely "busy idlers." The truest book-hunter is the book-dealer himself when he makes a sortice into other dealers' shops. With what keen delight does he lay aside in an apparently unconcerned and business-like manner certain treasures which he knows will delight the souls of some of his customer friends. The dealer selling, while he knows his brother dealer is getting some advantage over him, cheerfully lets the nuggets go, with the reflection that he will return the compliment some day. Moreover, it is to the good of the trade, and "a fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind."

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

ITALY IN THE COPYRIGHT UNION.

THE President on October 31 issued his proclamation declaring Italy a nation coming within the scope of the United States copyright law. Section 13 of the act of March 3, 1891, relating to copyright, provides that said act "shall only apply to a citizen or subject of a foreign state or nation when such foreign state or nation permits to citizens of the United States of America the benefit of copyright on substantially the same basis as its own citizens; or when such foreign state or nation is a party to an international agreement, which provides for reciprocity in the granting of copyright." Satisfactory official assurances having been given that in Italy the law permits to citizens of the United States the benefit of copyright on substantially the same basis as to the citizens of Italy, the President proclaims Italy as within the copyright union.

CANADIAN COPYRIGHT LAW.

A DEPUTATION of Canadian publishers met Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice, at Ottawa last week to discuss copyright matters with a view to enabling the Dominion Government to reply to a despatch received from the British Government calling for certain information required before the Imperial Government can declare on the constitutionality of the Canadian copyright bill.

Information received from England on the subject, it is said, strengthens the belief that the Canadian bill, although long deferred, will be allowed by the British Government, which means the practical exclusion from Canada of American reprints of English copyrighted works.

Canada has been advised by Britain that she can withdraw from the Berne copyright treaty. The Dominion Government will take advantage of the suggestion.

BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATIONS.

[Official.]

NORTHWESTERN BOOKSELLERS AND NEWS-DEALERS' ASSOCIATION.

Alex. McNie, Winona, Pres.
C. D. Raymer, Minneapolis, Sec.
G. W. Sayre, Minneapolis, Treas.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Oct. 28, 1892.

THE association will hold a special meeting in the rooms of the Jobbers' Association, 110 Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 24, for the purpose of receiving the resignation of Secretary Charles D. Raymer in favor of Edward Ackermann, of Chicago; also that of Assistant Secretary Thomas Alexander in favor of Charles D. Raymer. Other business will be a report of the secretary on the "cutting of prices of periodicals," the appointment of a committee for a benefit entertainment, and other matters of importance to the association. A cordial invitation is extended to the book and news trade of the Northwest as well as to that of the "Twin Cities." Trade papers are requested to copy this notice. CHARLES D. RAYMER, Secretary.

BOOKS FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR.

THE women managers of New York's Board of World's Fair Managers have appealed to all publishers for assistance in securing an exhibit of books written by women native or resident of the State. The managers say that they have a fine room in the Women's Building at Chicago which they propose to equip as a woman's library. The Wednesday Afternoon Club, of New York, whose rooms are in the Bible House, is to take charge of the collection of books.

CANADIAN PAPER SYNDICATE.

A CANADIAN paper trust is said to be in process of formation at Toronto. It is stated that the movement is backed by English capital, and that a syndicate of all the leading paper manufacturers of Canada will be organized early this month. If this is accomplished it will mean very likely the closing up of many of the smaller mills and a new stimulus to prices. It will also probably result in the imposition of a Canadian export duty on spruce lumber, intended as a retaliatory move against the McKinley tariff duty on wood pulp, which was formerly shipped in large quantities into Canada, and which destroyed the local pulp There have already been several attempts to impose this export duty, and if it is accomplished the American wood-pulp manufacturers, who have been obtaining their supply of pulp wood from the spruce forests of Canada, will be entirely cut off.

OBITUARY NOTES.

LIEUT. FREDERICK SCHWATKA, of Alaskan Exploration fame, died in Portland, Ore., on the 2d inst., aged 43 years. He wrote "Along Alaska's Great River," "Nimrod in the North" and "The Children of the Cold," besides making many contributions to periodicals.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

FRANK T. MARZIALS is preparing a "Life of Gavarni," the French caricaturist, for Sampson Low, Marston & Co.

POULTNEY BIGELOW has in preparation a book on Eastern Europe, having the title "The Ragged Edges of the Czar's Empire."

W. J. HENDERSON, the well-known music critic, has in preparation a volume of poems to be entitled "Pipe and Tabor." Duprat and Co. will supply the trade.

CAPTAIN CHARLES KING, author of many military novels; R. H. Savage, who wrote "My Official Wife," and Professor Arthur S. Hardy, author of "But Yet a Woman" and other books, were cadets together at West Point in 1865.

COUNT TOLSTOI has recently deposited his memoirs, including a large diary in manuscript with the curator of a Russian museum, the condition being made that they shall not be published until ten years after the author's death. The Count is now busily engaged on the completion of his new work, which, it is stated, deals severely with the militarism of modern Europe.

A MASSIVE stone cross 19 feet high will shortly be erected over the tomb of Audubon, the naturalist, in Trinity Cemetery, New York City. It will face Audubon Avenue as that thoroughfare is proposed to be cut through to One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Street, the new Audubon vault being situated at the main gateway on One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Street. This memorial to America's distinguished naturalist is in a measure due to the energy and zeal of Dr. Egleston, of the School of Mines, Columbia College. There were contributions from various States, but most of the fund was raised in New York.

IT is now said, and the statement has not been called into question, that the author of "An Englishman in Paris" is Mr. Albert D. Vandam, and not, as formerly conjectured, Sir Richard Wallace. Writing on this subject, a correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette asks somewhat per-tinently: "Is an author of a work of fiction justified in presenting his work to the public in the form of personal memoirs dealing solely with persons who are either living or have lived? put the question in this way because, if we are to accept the statement that Mr. Vandam is the author of the book, it can only be described as a How, otherwise, could Mr. work of fiction. Vandam, who can scarcely be more than forty years old, have described what he saw in the Revolution of 1848? How else could he relate his election to the French Jockey Club in 1870, and why did he join the club under an assumed name? Again, has Mr. Vandam any justification for describing himself as an 'Englishman' in Paris or elsewhere? Finally, why should an 'Englishman,' who is still alive, require the services of the 'editor' who added so many footnotes to his Was this merely to give verisimilitude work? to his work of fiction, and, if so, is this sort of practice to serve as an example?"

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

ACCORDING to the Librarian of Congress foreign authors, composers and designers have, since the passage of the International Copyright law, received 18,000 copyrights.

THE original Columbus letter, recently purchased from Quaritch for the Lenox Library, reached the New York Custom-House October 28. It was put under safe lock, for the precious document has an invoice value of £1500.

HOWARD C. BEAUCHAMP, Fayetteville, N. Y., will publish shortly a new work on the "Local Indian Names of New York," with names from other States, by the Rev. W. M. Beauchamp, author of "Iroquois Trail."

A CITIZEN of Buxton, Me., is preparing to publish a book on the early life and career of Jacob Cochrane, the leader of a deluded religious sect which flourished in several towns of Maine some seventy years ago, known as the "Cochranites."

A. C. Armstrong & Sons will publish shortly in their Booklover's Library Wm. Blades' curious and interesting monograph on "Books in Chains." It will have as an introduction a general notice of Mr. Blades' lifework, by Henry B. Wheatley.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have nearly ready a carefully revised edition of F. Horace Teall's book on "English Compound Words." Its main feature will be a list of nearly 40,000 terms, originally made for guidance in the preparation of the "Standard Dictionary," now rapidly progressing.

It is feared that Hon. J. A. Chain, president of the Chain & Hardy Company, of Denver, and his wife, were lost with the ill-fated Bokhara which went down during a typhoon on October 10, while enroute from Shanghaito Hong Kong. We trust the fears may be unfounded and that word may yet be had of their safety.

THE UNIVERSALIST PUBLISHING HOUSE desires the trade to note an error that occurs in their list in the "Publishers' Trade List Annual" for 1892. On the first page of their list "Ancient History of Universalism" is put down net 60c. It should be $1.00. On the second page, under the authors, the price is given correctly.

THE Booksellers' and Stationers' Provident Association of the United States has appointed a committee to make preparations for an author's reading, to take place in Chickering Hall during January next. The committee consists of Charles A. Burkhardt, of E. P. Dutton & Co., chairman; J. W. Holden and W. J. Kelly. Several authors have already promised to read from their own works.

FREDERICK KEPPEL & Co. have just sold a portrait of Burgomaster Jan Six, etched by Rembrandt in 1629, a very rare print in first state from the Seymour Haden collection (7½ x 9½), for $3200. This is, we think, the highest priced print ever sold in this country; there is one other, a Rembrandt owned by a New York collector, valued at $4000, but that was purchased in London.

D. LOTHROP Company publish this week "Down in Dixie," by Stanton P. Allen; "Famous Pets," by Eleanor Lewis; "Shakespeare's Twilights," and the new edition of Tennyson's "Holy Grail," with illustrations by Taylor. They have recently issued two capital books for young people—" Jack Brereton's Three Months' Service," by Maria McIntosh Cox, and "Gulf and Glacier," by Willis Boyd Allen.

CLARK W. BRYAN & COMPANY, Springfield, Mass., have in preparation "A Directory of Water Marks, Trade Marks and Special Brands in Use in the Paper Trade." It will be a neat, handy volume whose contents will be of value to paper-makers and dealers, publishers, printers, bookbinders, blank-book makers, envelope and papeterie manufacturers, engravers, lithographers, booksellers, stationers, newsdealers and every kindred branch of trade.

MRS. A. V. S. ANTHONY is preparing a memorial volume of the late James R. Osgood from his papers and correspondence. Mr. Osgood came in contact with many interesting people who have been and are the leaders in shaping the intellectual life of the time, and it is therefore probable that such a volume as proposed by Mrs. Anthony, who is Mr. Osgood's literary executor, will have a value to readers beyond the circle of his many acquaintances and friends.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have in press for immediate publication a new volume in a series of Old Testament Heroes, "Moses, the Servant of God," by the Rev. F. B. Meyer, who has recently accepted the pastorate of Christ's Church, London, so long under the administration of the Rev. Dr. Newman Hall. They also announce "The Future Tenses of the Blessed Life" by the same author, being a valuable edition to The Christian Life Series.

MACMILLAN & Co. announce the issue of a collection of papers by the late Sir Daniel Wilson, LL.D., entitled "The Lost Atlantis, and other ethnographic studies." It contains essays on trade and commerce in the Stone Age, the æsthetic faculty in aboriginal races, hybridity and heredity, etc. Mrs. Wm. Kingdon Clifford, author of "Aunt Anne," etc., is about to issue through this firm a book of short stories under the title "The Last Touches, and other stories."

CASSELL PUBLISHING Co. have just ready a new book by Barry Pain, called "Playthings and Parodies," made up of burlesque and short stories; and George "Ohnet's" Nimrod & Co., a tale of Paris, whose heroine is a Spanish Jewess, published in the Sunshine Series. They have in preparation a new volume of letters written by Heinrich Heine to his mother and sister during the course of his university and married life, translated by Charles de Kay; "My Septuagint," a collection of bits of thought in prose and verse, by Rev. Dr. Charles Deems, pastor of the Church of the Strangers of New York; and a volume of short essays from the pens of working-girls brought together under the title of "Thoughts of Busy Girls," and edited by Miss Grace H. Dodge.

D. VAN NOSTRAND COMPANY have just issued several important works in their special field of applied science. They are: "The Practical Management of Dynamos and Motors," by Francis B. Crocker and Schuyler S. Wheeler; "Telegraph Connections, Embracing Recent Methods in Quadruplex Telegraphy." by Charles Thom and Willis H. Jones, a thoroughly practical treatise, illustrated with twenty colored plates; a new, revised and enlarged edition of Cleeman's "Railroad Engineer's Practice," and five new volumes in their Science Series, viz.: "The Microscopical Examination of Potable Water," by Geo. W. Rofter; "Ice-Making Machines." translated from the French of M. Ledoux, and revised by well-known scientific authorities; "Van Nostrand's Table-book for Civil and Technical Engineers," "Compressed Air," by A. W. Kennedy, W. C. Unwin and F. E. Idell; and "Determinents," by Prof. G. A. Miller.

FOREIGN NOTES.

WM. HEINEMANN has nearly ready Henry Irving's volume of "Addresses." It will have for a frontispiece a portrait by Mr. Whistler.

CARL DUNCKER. Berlin, has published the first volume of Max Nordau's new work, entitled "Entartung," which depicts the degeneration in society at the latter end of this present century. The second volume will follow shortly.

W. ENGELMANN, Leipzig, has just issued a study of early Christian art, by Prof. Georg Ebers, entitled "Sinnbildliches, die koptische Kunst ein neues Gebiet der altehristlichen Sculptur und ihre Symbole." It is illustrated by 14 zincotypes.

BESIDES the volume just published, Lord Tennyson left a quantity of manuscript poems. It was left to Hallam Tennyson's discretion whether these poems should be published. It is likely that Mr. Tennyson will write his father's biography according to his often-expressed wish.

GEORGE BELL & Sons, London, announce a thoroughly revised edition in three volumes of Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy," based on that of 1651-1652. The editor has translated the classical quotations and verified the references for the first time. Indexes and an introductory memoir add value to this much-needed edition of a famous book.

EDWARD ARNOLD, London, will publish shortly the Dean of Rochester's "Memories of Archers, Artists, Authors, Cricketers, Ecclesiastics, Gamblers, Gardeners, Hunters and Shooters, Oxonians. Preachers, and Working-Men." The book is full of anecdotes and good stories, and contains several illustrations from original drawings by Leech and Thackeray.

THE DUKE OF ARGYLL'S new volume on "The Unseen Foundations of Society," which Murray, of London, promises, will, according to the London Athenæum, be an elaborate work, discussing, in sixteen chapters, "The Fallacies and Failures of Economic Science," and the elements to the neglect of which he considers the failure due. Besides giving a retrospective account of the feudal system and the substitution of rent for personal services, the Duke criticises the Ricardian theory of rent and that of the Wages Fund, and discourses upon the working of economic laws in our day, explaining what in his opinion they are, and what they are not.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Bulletin des Libraires is the title of a new French book-trade journal which makes the condition that the advertisements of new books printed in its columns must have only the retail and not the net prices affixed to them.

The old Peterson's Magazine is to be transformed into an illustrated periodical to be called The New Peterson Magazine and to be devoted to literature and art. Mr. Frank Lee Benedict, the author of some successful novels, will be the editor, and he is to be assisted in his labors by Octave Thanet, M. G. McClelland and Howard Seely.

PICK-UPS.

No Wonder,—"Do novels of mystery have much sale now?" "No," answered the bookdealer, sadly, "New Jersey's murders have ruined the market for them."—Philadelphia Press.

THE UNKINDEST CUT OF ALL.-" I understand your new paper is not to come out again?" said Miss Cynicus. Young Renfield bowed his head in assent. He had come to her for sympathy, and his grief was too deep for words. When his paper suspended the day before, he felt that he had had the chance of his life and failed. Only an author filled with youthful ambition could realize how he had burned the midnight oil when at last the chance came for him to make a strike for honest fame. But it was of no avail, and after a few weeks his little sheet went the way of many a better paper. After the first great pangs of his sorrow were over he had come to her he loved the best in the world, feeling sure that she could ease his pain. "It isn't for myself alone I feel so bad," he went on. "The publisher was very good to me. He sank a great deal of money in the venture, and while I did my best I can't help feeling that I was the cause of his misfortune. What I lost, in comparison, was nothing." "Of course it wasn't," she replied. "I understand just how it was you lost nothing. You put in the brains,"-N. Y. I.vening Sun.

CHARLES E. MERRILL & CO.'S AUTHORIZED

With Introductions by Prof. CHARLES ELIOT NORTON. Now ready in 21 vols.

"Messrs. Charles E. Merrill & Co. publish the only authorized edition of the writings of Mr. John Ruskin, and among the different American editions which have appeared from time to time the only one which is worthy of a permanent place in a well-stocked library."—RICHARD H. STODDARD, in Mail and Express.

"The pirated editions through which Americans have made the acquaintance of this author have added to the outrage of robbery the insult of cheapness and ugliness in the matter of paper and binding, and the reproduction of illustrations. All these injuries receive an atonement, somewhat tardy, it is true, but gratifying to all parties, in the neat binding and beautiful type and paper of the 'Brantwood' edition."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The price of the illustrated volumes is $1.50 each, and the volumes with the full-page illustrations, $2.75 each.
